

A DIALOGUE BETWEEN MY MOTHER AND MYSELF

MOTHER: What do you want to be when you grow up?

MYSELF: I want to be a scientist and Nano Nagle too.

MOTHER: What do you mean by this?

MYSELF: Oh mom! This is so simple.

MOTHER: But I don't understand explain me my child.

MYSELF: I want to be a scientist so that I can make vaccines for the upcoming viruses and we don't have to wait for it and stay in lockdown.

MOTHER: Oh! My baby. Why do you want to be Nano Nagle simultaneously?

MYSELF: Oh mom! You don't understand anything.

MOTHER: OK you explain me then.

MYSELF: Mom if I become a scientist and do not have the heart like Nano Nagle's to help poor and needy then I cannot be called a good scientist. Only a good scientist can serve the mankind.

MOTHER: I think you have grown up now.

MYSELF: Mom Nano Nagle has spent her entire life in serving others. I believe that every child of our school should become Nano Nagle first and then other future professionals.

MOTHER: I am blessed to have you as a part of presentation family my child.
